VIENNA.

The following Remonstrance of the Protestant Deputies at Ratisbon, in Behalf of the Lutherans of Silesia, was presented to the Emperour the 30th of March 1708.

Most Illustrious, most Potent, Invincible, and most Gracious Emperour, King and Lord.

YOUR Imperial and Royal Majesty may please to call to Mind that the 20th of June last Year an Intercessory Letter was deliver'd to your Majesty in the Name of our respective Principals, in favour of such of your Majesty's Vassals and Subjects in Silesia as profess the Lutheran Religion, and that we solicited your Majesty to appoint Impartial Commissioners to Redress their Intolerable Grievances.

Although we did not immediately obtain any Resolution thereupon, the Delay whereof, we suppose, was owing to the multiplicity of other important Affairs; yet our Principals had not long after the Satisfaction to hear that your Majesty had had such Regard to their Intercession, that Commissioners were appointed to hear and redress the Grievances of the aforesaid Protestants in Silesia.

And whereas the King of Sweden, by Virtue of his Guarantie of the Treaty of Westphalia, has also interpos'd in their behalf, and your Majesty has thereupon been pleas'd to enter into a Treaty for the Relief of the said Protestants, pursuant to the Tenour of the Pacification of Westphalia; Our respective Principals are the more rejoic'd thereat, because the Protestants in Silesia are now effectually deliver'd from the Oppressions and Injuries which they suffer'd without your Majesty's Knowledge and Consent. This most Gracious Act being a fresh Instance of your Majesty's Clemency and Justice, we are commanded by our Principals to return your Majesty most humble Thanks for the same.

But it appearing by the late Treaty with the King of Sweden, that his Swedish Majesty reserves to himself the Power of Interceding for a farther Liberty of Conscience in Silesia, as being grounded on the 5th Article of the Pacification of Westphalia, and that his Plenipotentiary at Breslau has made Application for the obtaining a competent Number of Churches and Schools in Upper Silesia, besides those already granted in the Provinces of Brieg, Lignitz, Wohlau, Munsterberg and Oelst, and the City of Breslau and its Dependancies, for the Exercise of the Lutheran Religion; our Principals thought it their Duty to second this just Request, because they are directed thereto by the Treaty of Westphalia, and are withal desirous to follow the Steps of their Ancestors, who often interpos'd their Intercession for the Execution of Treaties relating to Religious Affairs in the Empire, and particularly in Silesia.

We assure your Majesty in the most humble Manner, that our Principals have no other Views but to promote the true Interest of your Majesty's Hereditary Dominions; but that they hold themselves oblig'd in Point of Conscience to wish for, and procure the Welfare of such as Profess the same Faith as themselves; And we humbly conceive, that a Sovereign's greatest Glory and Felicity lie in the Spiritual and Temporal Welfare of his Subjects.

Some may urge, that the Intercession made by the King of Sweden, and repeated by our Principals, for the Allowance of more Churches to the Protestants, seems contrary to the Treaty of Westphalia; that therefore no Demand of such allowance can be made with Justice; And that your Majesty cannot grant it without prejudicing the Interest and Security of the Roman Catholicks in Silesia, where the Protestants are Tolerated out of Mercy only.

On the other hand it cannot be denied, that your Majesty's Predecessors, out of a particular Clemency to the Protestants in Silesia, allow'd them for some time the free Exercise of their Religion: And that this Favour did not depend merely upon the Imperial Word and Promise, which may be revok'd; but was grounded upon the Tenour of an Agreement made by the Emperors, Ferdinand II, and III, with the then Elector of Saxony: It is also apparent from the 38th Article of the Treaty of Westphalia, wherein the Exercise of the Protestant Religion is imputed to the Emperour's Mercy, a Solemn Promise is made to Maintain and Protect the same; and that Engagement was several times repeated by the Emperour Leopold of Blessed Memory; and it was not so much as pretended, that the States and Subjects of Silesia had forfeited their Liberty by their Conduct in former Wars in Germany, and by receiving the Swedes into their Country, because every thing that was transacted by them from 1631 to 1635, was Annul'd by the Treaty concluded at Prague; And the antient Pretence that a Sovereign has a Right to alter the Religion in his Territories cannot avail in this Case, by reason not only the Princes and States of Silesia, but also all the Subjects in particular, were assur'd of a free Exercise of their Religion. This is expressly Stipulated in the Treaty of Osnabrug, by Virtue whereof, the Crown of Sweden as Guarand, and the Electors and other Princes and States, have an undisputable Right to intercede when they shall have Occasion, for a larger Exercise and a greater Freedom of the Protestant Faith; And it may not be amiss to observe that the Protestant Princes and States made use of this Right, before the Crown of Sweden concern'd it self in Religious Affairs at the time the Treaty of Westphalia was set on Foot, When the Imperial Commissioners having no power to grant any thing farther, it was agree'd by a solemn Compact, that at least the Churches and Schools, being the Principal Conveniences for publick Worship and Instruction, should remain in Statu quo, and that Regard should be had at a more proper time to Intercessions for a greater Freedom of the Protestant Religion as was Practic'd in 1648, to which our Principals and their Ancestors have constantly refer'd themselves, pursuant to the 41st Article of the Treaty of Westphalia.

For these and other Reasons, and because your Imperial Majesty has declar'd in the last Treaty that Regard should be had to Intercessions for a greater Liberty of Conscience in Silesia and the other Dominions belonging to the most Illustrious House of Austria, we doubt not of a most Gracious Answer to our most humble Remonstrance in the Name of our Principals; since we sollicit the Restitution only of such Churches and Schools as have been taken from the Protestants in Silesia, that they may be suffer'd to enjoy the same Liberty as is allow'd to others in the Roman Empire, and that they may have an equal Share of your Majesty's Clemency and Affection; which they must despair of, if they should any longer be depriv'd of the Churches built by their Ancestors, and be oblig'd to travel a great many Miles to Exercise their Religion, when their own Churches are so near them, several whereof are shut up, and others made use of for Worldly Business. We therefore intreat your Majesty, not only to permit your Protestant Vassals and Subjects in Silesia to make use of the old Churches, but also to suffer them to build new ones, and to Protect them therein.

Your Majesty's Secular Interest and that of the Roman Catholick Religion, are so far from receiving any Prejudice thereby, that both will be the more Promoted and Secur'd; for both the Catholicks and the Protestants will then know what is their own, and a good Harmony and Concord will be establish'd; and the latter in particular will by this Means be confirm'd in their Duty to God and their Sovereign. They will be ready to acknowledge such an invaluable Condescension of your Majesty, with venturing their Lives and Possessions for your Majesty's Service in this Dangerous Conjuncture, and imploring God's Blessing on your Majesty both in their Churches and Houses; and our Illustrious Principals will endeavour to requite such an extraordinary Fav'ry bestow'd on those who are of the same Religion with themselves. We recommend our selves to your Majesty's Clemency, and remain with most humble Respect,

Ratisbon, March 10. Your Imperial and Royal

Majesty's most humble and most obedient. The Deputies and Envoys of the Electors, Princes and States at Ratisbon, who are of the Augsburg Confession.
